(Ref: Paragraph 5)

AGREEMENT WITH THE CHIEF OF MOLEEM - 1863

Whereas it was stipulated in the Agreement entered into by me, Melay Singh, Rajah of Moleem, under date 19th March, 1861, with the British Government, that the right of establishing civil and military sanatoria, posts and cantonments, within my country should remain with the British Government; whereas Lieutenant-Colonel J.C. Haughton, Agent to the Governor General, North-East Frontier, under the instructions of the said Government, has selected, for the purpose of civil and military sanatoria etc, the land hereinafter described, I hereby renounce, with the advice and consent of my Muntrees and the heads of my people, all sovereign and personal rights therein to Her Majesty the Queen of England and the British Government. It is, however, stipulated, should the proprietors of any of the land within the limits hereinafter described be unwilling to sell or part with their land to the British Government, the said persons shall continue fully to enjoy the same without impost or taxation as heretofore, but that in all other respects the jurisdiction and sovereignty of Her Majesty the Queen of England, and of the British Government, and the officers of Government duly appointed, shall extend over the said land and over all persons residing thereon, and to all offences committed therewithin.

BOUNDARY- The boundary of lands of Oo Don Sena to the south and east of the Oom Ding Poon stream which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Ka Stang Rapsang, south of the stream south of the Oom Ding Poon adjoining the village of Sadoo which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Oo Bat Khaobakee touching the Oom Ding Poon stream which have been purchased; the boundary of the lands of Ka Doke adjoining the last named which have been purchased; the boundary of the land of Sooaka adjoining the last-named which have been purchased; the boundary of the Shillong lands which have been purchased, from which point the boundary will follow the north and west sides of the present Government roads till the boundary of the lands of Borjon Muntree which have been purchased is met. It will then follow the boundary of the said Borjon's land till the boundary of the said land again meets the Government road now existing which it will follow till the boundary of the Raj lands purchased are met. It will follow the boundary of the Raj lands till that dividing the Longdo lands of Nongseh from the Raj land and the land purchased from Oo Reang-Karpang of Nongseh, and will go between the two last on the east side of a hill by a path till the boundary stone of the Longdo of Nongseh at the head of a watercourse is met. It will then follow that watercourse to the junction of it with Oom Soorpee leaving the hill with Lungdo jungle of fir trees on it to the left or north and west side. The boundary will then cross the Oom soorpee river and ascend by a ravine opposite inclining somewhat to the right hand to monumental stones (Mowshin Ran), near one of which a peg and pile of stones is placed. The boundary will then descend the hill backwards towards the point of Youdoe Hill, that is, the hill on which the Youdoe Bazar is held, to a pile of stones and a peg not far from the Government road which it crosses and not far from the Oom Soorpee river. The boundary thence turns north-east by ascending the hollow to the ridge which divides the water-flow, on which is a mark, to the hollow to the north-east, which it follows by the water to the Oom Kra river leaving the Youdoe Bazar hill and the village of Mao Kra on the left hand. The boundary thence turns eastward, following the base of the hills and excluding all cultivation in the plains, including within it the hill lands given to the Government by Oo Beh till the lands of Oo Dor given to the government are met, whence the boundary, in the same way, follows the base of the hills excluding the cultivation in the plains till the river Pomding Neyam is met. Opposite a cave at the mouth of this stream, when it enters the plain, a peg and pile of stone is met. The boundary thence follows the same stream to its head in the rice lands of Oo Beh aforesaid; thence it follows the foot of the hills, leaving the village of Limera to the left or east side, and excluding the rice cultivation of Oo Beh, but including the hill land given by him to the Government till it reaches the head of the said rice cultivation, where it turns sharply to the left or east between two hills till it reaches the banks of the stream Oom Ponteng Kom, the downward course of which it follows till the junction of the same water now called Oom Soorpee, with the Oom Jussaci is reached. This river is the boundary till its source is reached from a pile of stones, near which, marking the boundary of land purchased from Oo Don Sena, the boundary crosses over south-westerly to the point where the Oom Shillong makes a bend; at that point stones have been placed opposite ten fir and five oak trees, on the spur of a hill. The boundary then follows the Oom Shillong till the boundary of Oo Don Sena's land is met, which it follows the point from whence it started is reached. I agree that the Government, or the possessor of the land within named, as well as the Shillong lands shall have the joint right of turning off all water adjoining the said land for use, subject to such rules as the Government may prescribe. I promise also, as far as in me lies, to preserve the sacred groves whereon the water supply is dependent, and to punish any of my subjects found cutting the trees of the said groves and to deliver up for punishment any British subject found so offending.

Letter No. 1440/C dated Shillong the 13th December 1947 from the Adviser to H.E. the Governor of Assam to the Secretary, Federation of Khasi States, Shillong:-

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter No. 36/Pol/40 dated 12th December 1947 and to say that Rulers of Khasi States need have no cause for apprehension. The Power of the Dominion Legislature to make laws in the States, as referred in your letter, is in accordance with the provisions of the Instrument of Accession but is limited to those subjects which are included in what is known as the Federal List (Seventh Schedule, Government of India Act 1935), read with Section 5 of the Agreement attached to the Instrument of Accession.

There is, therefore no need to specify the subjects in details in the Agreement as they are, as stated above, included in the Federal List.

Furthermore, I am to add that where a standstill arrangement exists, the existing laws continue as before.

I trust that this answers your questions.

APPENDIX "O"

(Ref: KA TIEN LAMPHRANG)

Honourable Chairman and Friends,

It is both my privilege and my pleasure to welcome you to this Conference in Shillong which, at this time of the year, is at its mellowed best: prodigal but not over - indulgent. Nature has announced the start of the festive season, and I do hope that we shall combine work with pleasure so that the basic harmony inherent in nature is reflected in our thinking and in our discussions. Shillong has a hoary tradition. It derives its name from a deity called U 'Lei Shillong, who has his abode in a Peak also named after him. This Peak is the highest in Meghalaya protecting Shillong from the blasts of the south-wester, and may be seen from anywhere in the town rising majestically to the skies. Our ancient legend tells us that u 'Lei Shillong had a devine neice from whose womb sprang a number of ruling clans in the erstwhile Khasi States. The Shillong States is believed to have been founded under his command. It was partitioned into the present Syiemships of Khyrim and Mylhem in 1830, a year hallowed in memory by the struggle of that great patriot, U Tirot Singh, Syiem of Nongkhlaw, who was ably supported by another great patriot, U Bormanik, Syiem of Shillong, against the British Power. The festival of Ka Pomblang Syiem of Khyrim, celebrated barely a fortnight ago, is an intimate part of Khasi religion tradition, particularly the sacrificial offerings to U Blei Shillong.

One thousand nine hundred seventy-four is also a historic milestone for Shillong. It was just a century ago that it assumed importance when it became the capital of a separte province of Assam under a Chief Coimmissioner. In the autonomous set-up of Meghalaya, the administration of Shillong was vested partly in the Government of Assam and partly in the Government of Meghalaya. With the attainment of full statehood, Shillong witnessed the passing of the old order and the birth of the new. A period of transition is always a trying one; vacuums do occur. But Shillong, with the halo of its past, has been, in my opinion, rightly chosen as the headquarters of the North-Eastern Council and the nucleus or hub of the North-Eastern Hill University. May I say that this year, and at this time, the hills are at their verdant best opening their welcome arms with love to all those who belong; and so too we receive you all amongst us with open heart and soul.

I would be lacking in duty and courtesy if my welcome does not record the congratulations of all present, of the people of Meghalaya, and of my own, to the Speaker of the Lok Sabha, the Hon'ble Dr. G.S. Dhillon, on his being unanimously elected President of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association and also, on being chosen Chairman of the Council of the Inter-Parliamentary Union. Dr. Dhillon has his own inimitable contribution of parliamentary life, and, I am sure, Bucharest will be no exception.

It is customary on such occasions to render a brief outline of the history and culture of the people of the host state. I do not propose to depart from the accepted norm, primarily because Meghalaya, or for that very matter, the whole of North-East itself, is yet so little known to the rest of the country, but with a charm and attraction of its own, almost exotic though very much native and indigenous. While I would welcome each one of you savour the fascinating beauty of these hills and their people, I would like to dwell on their legacy and their democratic institution which, in our parliamentary context, are strikingly relevant.

Meghalaya is the homeland of two communities, the Garos and the Khasis. The Garos have their homeland in the Garo Hills and the Khasis have theirs in the present Khasi and Jaintia Hills. The term khasi is a general name given to the people of the Khasi and Jaintia Hills districts. They claim descent from the same common origin. They have the same common language, common customs traditions and usages. They have the same way of life, the same mores and manners with the same common beliefs. Geographically speaking, the people of the eastern plateau are known as Pnars or Syntengs; the people of the southern slopes are known as Wars, the people of the low-lying hills in the northern areas are known as Bhois, and those in the west-by-north areas as Lyngams; the people of the western plateau are known as Khyntiams to the Pnars, and as Nongphlang to the Wars. There are some other groups of people known as Labangs, Khyrwangs and others, but all of them are known by the generic name, Khasi. The Lyngngams are known as Migams to the Garos.

The late Prime Minister Nehru spoke of the people of the Khasi and Jaintia Hills as those who, by their "Stamina, virility and competence still maintain their freedom based on ancient ways and tenets of the race. They are an extremely discipline people, often more democratic than most of India. Without a (Written) constitution, they function democratically and carry out the decisions made by their elders and representatives without exception." The late Mr. Nehru's cameo must remain one of the choicest of the collections for the Khasi people. Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose also praised the Khasi democratic way of life as the true ideal democratic system. On more than one occasion, he urged the people of India to learn something from the Khasi democratic way of life.

In fact, in Khasi polity, an individual is assured of an equal opportunity in the administration based on native genius and organisation. In brief, the Khasis had developed a three-tier structure with built-in checks and balances to guard against any usurpation of power. There was a durbar at the village level which looked after the immediate needs of the village such as sanitation, health, water supply, maintenance of roads and lanes, etc. Several villages banded together to form a Raid or Commune, and the Durbar Raid normally settled inter-village disputes. It administered justice through customary law or through the laws in force. The highest tier was the Chief's Durbar or Syiem's Durbar and the Durbar Hina.

Unlike other hereditary Chiefs elsewhere the Syiems were elected Chiefs, chosen by an electoral college of "Bakhraws and Basans" who were themselves the elected representatives of the people. Till today, the political system of the Khasis is more democratic than that of the Panchayat system that exist in the plains. When no democracy existed in the plains, the Khasis were ruled by a democratic process. One must go through "The Khasis" by Col. P.R. Gurdon, and "Notes on Khasi Law" by Sir Keith Cantlie. Gurdon gives a graphic description of the administration of justice among the Khasis. All disputes were referred to the Durbar and the decision of the Durbar had to be executed by the Syiem. As regards the administration of justice, a similar system did not exist in any part of the World.

The Syiem had to lead and preside over the Durbar Hima so that it ran smoothly with all the prestige and spirit of equality and responsibility that use to hold sway. This is the picture of a Khasi Parliament (Durbar Hima) as described by Col. Archibald Watson and Mr. White in their Memoirs of David Scott who said "I was struck with astonishment at the order and decorum which characterised the debate. No shouts of exultation, or indecent attempts to put down the orator of the Opposite party. On the contrary every speaker was fairly heard out. I have often witnessed the debate in St. Stephen's (Chapel) but those of the (Khasi) Parliament appeared to me to be conducted with more dignity of manner".

In the Jaintia Hills, the same system existed till 1835 when the institution of Syiems-ship was abolished by the British after the whole area was conquered and occupied by them. But the British did not with the village Durbar, though the Raids were covered into deloiships.

Whereas the Khasis had developed a three-tier system, the Garos had developed a two-tier system. At the village level the village durbars are in vogue. The highest authority is the elaka durbar which is presided over by an elected Nokma.

The matrilineal system and the land tenure in Meghalaya are unique, and merit further research and study. But whereas the British had brought about new innovations in the land tenure systems in the Garo Hills and Jaintia Hills, and whereas the District Councils of the two districts have also brought about some changes in the land systems to suit modern conditions; the land tenure system in the Khasi Hills still remains more or less unchanged. In the Khasi Hills broadly speaking, there are two categories of land-viz., Ri Kynti or private land, and Ri Raid or lands belonging to the community. The Syiems were not territorial rulers because land belonged to the people. Personally speaking, I believe that we have the best system of land tenure. But modern agricultural practices with their investment pattern have led to temporary strains- in a sense of reaction to modernisation. I am not suggesting that a change is always desirable, nor can I conceive of a change without some reaction, however good it may be. We in the Khasi Hills have been faced with the need to modernise the laws by maintaining a record of rights of the respective individuals, families, clans, villages, Raids or Himas as the case may be to obtain bank finance. Even in richer and more prosperous communities, bank loans form a vital adjunct of agricultural life. Meghalaya is a small, infant State. Can it do without some form of hypothecation? As in other emerging societies, the problem in Meghalaya, though a minor one, is one to harmonise customary law and practices with innovation, to blend the past with the present.

In fact, we in Meghalaya have sought, and are seeking, to preserve the cultural values-values, as it were, rooted in the soil, in tradition, in dance and song. Barely two weeks ago was the Pomblang Syiem of Khyrim festival celebrated in its full-bloom glory-it is perhaps the most colourful festival in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills. The annual ritual is woven round a unique conception of Khasi religious, social, and political thoughts where the Syiem and the Syiem Sad played the most important roles. The Syiem Sad is the nearest and eldest femal relation of the Syiem from the mother's side. She is entrusted with the custody of the rites and ceremonies, a custody that endows her with moral sanction vis-a-vis the powers-that-be.

Apart from this festival, there are many other festivals in the Khasi Hills such as Ka Shad Suk Mynsiem in Shillong and many other places, Ka Phur Sohbar and Nongjri, Ka Shad Wahkhen, Ka Shad Mawja, Ka Shad Iapngar and the like. In the Jaintia Hills we have as many as six Beh Dein Khlam festivals in six different places, generally celebrated in July after the sowing-the festivals that reflect literally the hopes and aspirations of the people in that district, and for that matter, the hopes and aspirations of the whole Khasi race.

A Khasi is intensely religious with a lust for life. His approach to his Creator is not beset with fasting, sackcloth and ashes; it is the outpouring of a full heart-a thanksgiving for the harvest of life. Khasi festivals may be primarily religious, but they are not solely so. They are actually an expression of the cream of his thought on life and how it should be lived. This may not be readily digestible to one who associates the religion with ascetic, but a Khasi loves to worship God when he is happy and gay, at peace with himself-the condition in which he believes he is most worthy to approach his Maker.

The Garos also believe in the Supreme Being the Creator. Woven in the traditional faith is the infrastructure of monotheism and the concept of the supernatural. Among the Garos also, the traditional religious values find expression in the festivals; the Wangala, for instance, when the Garos announce the bounty of harvest time in song and dance. The costume on such occasion is colourful with a variety of instruments ranging from drums and gongs to pipes and flutes and harps.

Linguistically, the Khasi language belongs to the Mon-Khmer form of speech which branched out from the Austro-Asiatic form of speech. According to accounts, the Mon-Khmer form of speech, at one time, spread from Central Asia to the South seas right round to Malagasy. The Khasi and Jaintia Hills is an island of this form of speech in the midst of Aryan tongues. But, it is unfortunate that for thousands of years we did not have any written literature, of course we did have oral literature in the forms of ballads, epic verses, heroic tales handed down through the centuries. Written Khasi literature was introduced by the Christian Missionaries 161 years ago. But within such a short period Khasi literature has so expanded itself in nearly all the branches. We have produced many able and brilliant authors, poets, essayists, and short story writers. Last year we celebrated the Birth Centenary of our greatest poet, U Soso Tham. While giving a preface to the Birth Centenary souvenir of the great poet, our Chief Minister, Capt W.A.Sangma, observes the status of Khasi literature thus: "It is remarkable to note that within 160 years of its existence, written Khasi literature has made such gigantic strides. Today, Khasi literature has reached more or less the same standard as any other modern Indian literature. It is undoubtedly the richest among the Indian tribal literature and at the same time, it is the richest among the Mon-khmer group of languages". Today Khasi language is recognised by Calcutta, Guahati, Dibrugarh and North-Eastern Hill University up to the B.A. Standard.

It is my privilege that I have been entrusted by the North-Eastern Hill University to frame the syllabus for the study of Khasi Language and Literature at the Post-Graduate level. It is also my privilege to have moved the resolution at the annual meeting of General Committee of the Sahitya Akademi in February last year for getting the recognition of Khasi by the National Academy of Letters. This question is now on the anvil of the Executive Committee. I have every hope that the result will be in our favour.

Garó language, on the other hand, belongs to the Tibeto-Burman group of languages, which was also a branch of the great Austro-Asiatic form of speech. Like the Khasis, the Garos also had no written literature. It was the Christian Missionaries again who reduced Garó language into writing. Unlike Khasi literature, secular Garó literature came into its own in the forties of the present century only, and Prof. Howard Dennison Momin's literary bimonthly Achik Kurang, a trend-setter in vernacular literature owed much to the avante-garde group of Garó collegians. Mr. Kandura W. Momin wrote two text books, one on the History of Assam in Garó in 1952 and the other on the History of India, also in Garó 1953. Another prominent writer, Harendra W. Marak, made an original contribution to Garó folk literature, apart from translating poems, including Tagore's Gitanjali in 1966. A recent effort was the translation of the Rubaiyyat of Omar Khayyam. A novel introduction subsequently was a Garó drama, and in 1971 the first novel in Garó, Sonabal Mechik, was published. The creation of Meghalaya will mean a new dawn for the writers in Garó.

Meghalaya is still an under-developed State. The bulk of economy is agriculture. Paddy grown is of two types-hill rice and swamp rice. The other crops are maize and millets. Many important cash crops such as potatoes, sugarcane, ginger, chillies, also thrive well. Cotton is a valuable cash crop in the Garó Hills.

le/pata, betelnuts, pan leaves, pepper, oranges, plums, pears, nananas are the other cash crops. But, on the other hand, the State has other economic potentialities. Meghalaya, a veritable darling of nature, abounds in mineral and forest resources. There is a good future for the growth of mineral-based and forest-based industries, horticulture, sericulture, dairying and for various types of cottage industries.

Economically, the people living in the border areas of Meghalaya have had to find non-traditional outlets for their produce. Before partition, the border trade with Sylhet sustained the border economy. Similar was the case with Mymensing and the Garo Hills portion. This was shattered with the emergence of Pakistan. A friendly Bangladesh now can reverse the trend, though impediments have cropped up in the form of overzealous bureaucratic procedures. The mainstay, however, is the limestone and coal, both products of great industrial demand, particularly limestone and clinker which the Chhatak Cement Factory in Bangladesh needs.

The sequestration of the hills has left Meghalaya in relative quite. I mean that Meghalaya is yet to figure prominently on what may be called the "map of protest" or the "map of disquite". Meghalaya has its problems-incipient student differences, growing unemployment, occasional bundhs and hartals. The business climate needs to be toned up, entrepreneurial skills are needed. But a happy augury is the absence of unprincipled trade unionism. Differences are still settled amicably; political differences have not soured relations.

But Meghalaya cannot remain an isolated patch of beauty; the problems of the country and their solution are vital to its growth and progress. The twin problems as I understand them are inflation and a challenge to authority. Inflation can have a crippling impact on land-locked Meghalaya. A railhead at Byrnihat will help, provided supply from the rest of India is maintained. Disturbed conditions in the neighbouring State can bring about a chain reaction, particularly when it questions the very basis of established-order. As presiding Officers it enjoins a special responsibility on us. The onus of having to decide between legislative competence and duty and unfettered public sway still a live issue.

Before I conclude, we must express our gratitude to our State Chief Minister, Capt. Williamson A. Sangma and the members of his Cabinet, the Leader of the Opposition in the Meghalaya Legislative Assembly, Mr. Maham Singh, and all members of the Meghalaya Legislative Assembly and Officers of the state Government, without whose help and constant co-operation it would not have been possible for us to do whatever little we have been able to do.

With these words, I once again thank you all for the patience and courtesy you have extended to me.

APPENDIX - "P"

An introductory speech by Mr. L.G. Shullai, formerly Chief Executive Member, Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council, on the occasion of presenting the first copy of this book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI" to Prof. R.S. Lyndoh, (Speaker, Meghalaya Legislative Assembly) on the 10th January, 1976 (Saturday) at 11 A.M. at the office Chamber of the Speaker, Meghalaya Legislative Assembly Shillong.

Mr. Speaker Sir,
Distinguished Journalists and friends,

I am very happy that I have been able to compile this general narrative in a form of a book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI", narrating some of the important events and incorporating some of the important documents connected with the period from the 15th August, 1947 to 25th January, 1950, relating to the erstwhile Khasi States.

Mr. Speaker Sir, the sentence, "A period of transition is always a trying one; vacuums do occur", which appeared in your 'Welcome Address' at Shillong to the delegates of the Conference of the Presiding Officers of Legislative Bodies in India on the 5th November, 1974 keeps on reminding me that in so far as the erstwhile Khasi States are concerned, the period from the 15th August, 1947 to the 25th January, 1950 is really a period of transition. Hence, this general narrative in a form of a book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI" is being brought out, and I hope it will arouse the sense of curiosity of the students of History and Political Science and the research scholars to seek more, to find out more and to write more about the said period.

Though the book was written in Khasi, yet the relevant and connected documents were reproduced either in Khasi or in English in their original form, e.g.

- 1) Agreement in 1863 between the Syiem of Myllem and the British Government in which the Syiem of Myllem ceded to the British Government a portion of land in Shillong. (This may be seen in Appendix "A" at pages 16-19).
- 2) Instrument of Accession signed by the "Rangbah Hima" (i.e Syiem (s)/ Lyngdoh (s)/ Sirdar (s)/ Wahadadar) of the erstwhile Khasi States. (This may be seen in Appendix "C" at pages 22 -- 25).
- 3) Resolution of Rev. J.J.M. Nichols-Roy moved during the session of the Khasi State Constitution Making Durbar held at Dinam Hall Jaiaw, Shillong from the 11th to 21st July, 1949 and the Amendment of the Syiem of Jirang. (The Resolution and the Amendment may be seen in paragraph - 25 and paragraph - 26 respectively at pages 22-24).

- 4) The Khasi State (Administration of Justice) Order, 1950 issued with Notification No. SK/140/49/8 dated 25.1.50 and published in the Assam Gazette, Extraordinary, January 25, 1950 (This may be seen in Appendix "E" at pages 27 -- 36).

I may also mention here that the photograph inside this book was taken on the 29th April, 1949, the day in which the Khasi State Constitution Making Durbar was inaugurated by the Governor of Assam, Shri Sri Prakasa.

Mr. Speaker Sir, at this moment my mind goes back to those good old student days where we used to discuss freely about various topics, e.g. the Law of Diminishing Return, the Social Contract Theory, the Localisation of Industries, the Indus Valley Civilization, the Unification of Italy, the Glorious Revolution, etc. Yes about "The Eight Poets", "Modern Essays", "Julius Caesar". "Loyalties", "Mayor of Casterbridge" and "Ki Sngi Barim U Hynneiwtrep".

Now we are meeting in a new atmosphere with new sense, rather with greater sense of responsibility; no longer, "to seek, to find and not to yield" but also "to speak, strike and redress".

Mr. Speaker Sir, I deemed it a great privilege to have been able to show you the manuscript before I sent it to the Press. I hope you would be able to favour us today with your comments before the book is finally released to the public. Though the function is small, yet I hope that its ramification will go far beyond.

The book is dedicated to the memory of Late Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (may his soul rest in peace), who, at the gathering of the citizen of Shillong on the 2nd January 1948 said, "Yours is a land for gods to live in. Its air, its natural scenery, its pure atmosphere its sweet water, would attract even gods if your hearts were pure".

Before I conclude, I express my gratefulness to you distinguished journalists and friends, who are present here in this function, and specially to you Mr. Speaker Sir, who is not only a Speaker, but also a scholar and a great patron of Khasi Literature.

With these few words, I present this first copy of my book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI" to you Mr. Speaker Sir, who, in this non-legislative function, with your special and kind permission, I would prefer to call you "Bah Duh"

Khubiei,

L.G. Shullai

APPENDIX - "R"

Speech of Prof. R.S. Lyngdoh, Speaker, Meghalaya Legislative Assembly on receipt of the first copy of the book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI", presented to him by Mr. L.G. Shullai, former Chief Executive Member, Khasi Hill Autonomous District Council on the 10th January, 1976 (Saturday) at 11 A.M. at the office Chamber of the Speaker Meghalaya Legislative Assembly, Shillong.

Friends,

At the very outset, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to Mr. L.G. Shullai when I would call Bah Gil, for his generosity to give me the first copy of his book entitled "KI HIMA KHASI" which deals with the period of history when they were still known as Khasi States. But I think, Bah Gil, you have given me undue credit to say that it was my Welcome Address to the All India Conference of the Presiding Officers in 1974 which had inspired you to collect the valuable constitutional historical documents which form part of your estimable book. I do not know whether my said Welcome Address had really inspired you to write your book, but if it had in any way contributed to your good effort I am happy indeed. Perhaps, my close association with you since our student days had made you favour me with the credit of having given you the inspiration. I, would, however, like to disclose that we did have mutual discussions on the subject and in such discussions amongst friends the inspiration is always reciprocal.

On my part I want to thank you for your very valuable contribution not only in the field of constitutional history of this part of the country, known as the Khasi & Jaintia Hills, but also for your contribution in the field of Khasi Literature itself. While I was going through your manuscript, I was very much impressed with the lucidity of the language you used and with your high sense of responsibility to direct the minds of younger generations towards a unified culture and a glorious development of Khasi language and Khasi literature. I am afraid that there may be misguided sections among our people today who try to damage the unity of Khasi literature which has made good progress in the last 163 years. It was during this period that we have really made gigantic progress and I think you will be glad to know that Khasi literature as it stands today is in a position to occupy an exalted place not only in Khasi home but even in the higher academic circles, and if the plan goes through, we hope the North Eastern Hill University will include Khasi as one of the subject for the post-graduate study in the School of Languages from the next academic year. I have no doubt even if we do not succeed next year, we shall definitely succeed in the year following.

When I studied your manuscript, I am really please to see your geographical division of our land. Your effort to dig out those valuable documents will really serve as an eye opener to the research students as well as to political scientists in future. I do not say your book is complete, but it thus give quite a good connected picture of the period it deals with. You have yourself rightly stated that there are many gaps to be filled up by the contributions of other friends and scholars. I think it will suffice if I only remark that a person like you with varied activities (you were sometime ago the Head of the District Council Administration) will not naturally have the time to devote fully to research, yet your love for the people and your love for the cause has, I think, enable you to bring out this book. I know the difficulties of the writers in Khasi, they have to wait long years, ten to twenty, before their investment in printing and publishing will bring return. It is therefore up to the society to decide in what manner it will respect the contribution of the language authors and in what manner it will compensate to authors who inspire other authors to contribute more. I think it is high time for the society and the government to see that good writers and good books are really paid for. It would be a wise and good thing for the government to purchase good books for distribution to different colleges, schools and other institutions so that students and others too, not only in the towns but also in the rural areas, shall get access to them. So Bah Gil, I must really be thankful for your contribution.

Today, we are fortunate that we have here in our midst two eminent persons who had played a veritable role in making the history under review. I know, without naming them also each one of us will understand who I meant. I would like to request them also to write their memoirs and collect those documents which will go to fill up those gaps. For instance, my Secretary, who happened to be at that time a Special Assistant to the Dominion Agent played quite an important role during the period. He was sent to negotiate with the two Rulers of the Khasi States who had not signed the Instrument of Accession as yet, and the then Governor, Sir Akbar Hydari, at parting told him to see that for heaven's sake Junagadh was not repeated in the two Khasi States. That subject itself needs more elaborate research.

Let me point out some other reports which happened during the period. You know very well that the Rulers of Khasi State first signed the Instrument of Accession on the 8th August, 1947.

What actually happened ? Why did the Ministry of States asked the Rulers of the Khasi States to sign again on the 15th of December. Now let these two events be studied with proper care, understanding and sympathy.

So also there were a number of other events. Before 1948, there were two non-acceding States, Junagadh and Hyderabad, the rest of Indian States had already acceded to the Indian Union. But among the acceding States there were five categories. Firstly, the State which were not affected by the process of integration secondly the Union States, thirdly the Centrally merged States, fourthly the Provincial merged States, and fifthly the Federation of Khasi States. It may also be mentioned that like Jammu and Kashmir which did not sign the Instrument of Merger for which there were other constitutional arrangements, the Khasi States did not sign the Instrument of Merger. This is therefore a question for the research scholars to dig out as to how the Khasi States came to be merged with Assam with the coming into force of the Constitution. This subject also is to be studied very minutely. I think the Ministry of States had not yet made all the documents available to research scholars. These documents are very very important. But when the Constituent Assembly studied the position of the Khasi States, there was no discussion at the beginning about their merger, and even the Bordoloi Committee which recommended the formation of the District Council in all the tribal areas was silent on the question of the position of the Khasi States. The Drafting Committee itself was silent on the position of the Khasi States. I think the political leaders were thinking in term of perhaps getting the Khasi States a position similar to the State of Jammu and Kashmir as under Article 370 of the Constitution. But that was not the position. The story goes in the different manner altogether. The representative of the Khasi State in the Constituent Assembly, Mr. G.S. Guha, did not speak a word. Now, why did Mr. Guha keep mum in the Constituent Assembly and why the Khasi States did not send their own man are matters to be further studied.

When the negotiation first started it was agreed that the position of the Khasi States will be decided by the Khasi State themselves. And so the Khasi States Constitution Making Durbar was constituted. It held its session, as narrated by Mr. Shullai, but the question which remain to be answered now is why did the Khasi States Constitution Making Durbar stop its activities short of determining the proper status of the Khasi State? To me this needs proper study. We know that Negotiating Committee of sixteen persons was constituted as it appears from the proceeding of the said Durbar and it also appears from the newspapers of the day that there were certain correspondence between the Negotiating Committee and the Ministry of State. But these documents were not made available to us. Now it depends upon the co-operation of all friends and of the research scholars everywhere to find out the facts.

The Chairman of the Drafting Committee of the Constituent Assembly, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar brought an amendment to paragraph 19 of the Sixth Schedule to the Draft Constitution which states that the United Khasi-Jaintia Hills District shall comprise all the areas formerly known as the Khasi States and the British portions of the District. But we are left in the dark as to who advise Dr. Ambedkar to bring the amendment. It is for the research students to unearth the forces working behind the scenes. There is indeed a good field for further research.

When the Constitution was discussed in its final stage, it is on record that one of the Members of the Drafting Committee, Sir Mahanmad Sadullah, observed that in bringing Khasi States within the frame-work of the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution there was constitutional anomaly. Of course all these are meant for academic discussion to bring out the fact. We have accepted the Constitution, and the very fact that we have participated fully in all the general elections means that we have accepted the spirit of the Sixth Schedule in toto. In any case, this subject is very very interesting. I thank you very much, Mr. Shullai, and I would appeal to you to bring out another book which contains valuable documents regarding the very important transitional period from the 26th January, 1950 to the 26th June, 1952. It should be illuminating to know what happened during that period. If the District Council maintain their records properly I think there will be no difficulty to know what happened after the 27th of June 1952 for the reconstruction of the latter period of our history.

So once again I thank you, Bah Gil, for your first attempt and I really encourage you to undertake another venture to fill up the gaps which will supply materials to research students in future. I will appeal also to all of you and to the reading public to patronise not only Mr. Shullai but all other authors as well. Bah Gil, I think the book can be made available to the public book stalls like the Modern Book Depot, the Mascot Book Stall, etc. The price is only Rs. 10.00 (Rupees Ten) and considering the valuable materials and the cost of paper, I think the price is quite reasonable.

Now I would invite all of you to have some light refreshment in the Members' Lawn.

My dear Sardarji,

I hope you received my letter of 5 December written on my return from Delhi. It related to Tripura and Manipur. This relates to the Khasi States.

On 2 December I informed the representatives of the Khasi States Federation that I had brought with me from Delhi the Instrument of Accession which incorporated the agreement reached by them with me in July this year and that they should now sign it. It was accordingly agreed that all the Siems (head of a tribal clan) should assemble here on the 15th and individually sign the instrument. The meeting took place this morning, and I reported to you the result by telegram, as in the copy enclosed, addressed to Cuttack. With 20 out of the 25 heads of Khasi States signing, the back of any dissident movement must be deemed to have been broken. This is not to say that Nichols-Roy on one side and Abdul Matin Chaudhury* on the other (strange bedfellows!) will not try to keep the agitation pot boiling for as long as they can. That various underhand forces had been at work between 2 December and 15 December is shown by the fact that this morning's proceedings at one time seemed likely to break; for, three of the principal siems, i.e. those of Myllicm, of Khyrim and of Cherra, (the last mentioned borders on East Pakistan and he holds some land in Sylhet) refused to sign and wanted more time to "consult their people". I made them realise what the consequences of not signing would be, and after nearly an hour's confabulation among themselves they signed. The rest was easy.

Some time back I asked the Central Intelligence officer (S.M. Dutt) to let me have a report on the activities of Abdul Matin Chaudhury as I suspected his prolonged sojourn in Shillong. A copy of his report is enclosed. I think it contains fairly reliable information

As regards Nichols-Roy, I recommend that he should be removed from ministership. I know that Bardoloi thinks that he will be more dangerous out of office than in office. At one time I subscribed to the view, but now I am of the opinion that the disadvantages of his continuing in the Ministry outweigh the advantages. He is widely disliked and discredited. He is not even a good executive and is an obstacle to our putting some pep into the provincial PWD which it sorely needs if we are to keep to our programme of necessary road construction. I realise that the elimination of Nichols-Roy cannot be brought about at once, but I am putting the matter in your mind to enable you to think over ways and means.

With kind regards,

Yours Sincerely,
A.K. Hydari .

My dear Hydari,

Thank you for your letter dated 15 December 1947. I received your telegram regarding Khasi States when I was at Nagpur, the day that we succeeded in getting the integration through from the Orissa and Chhattisgarh States. The news of the Khasi States therefore came on a day on which it seemed we were in luck. I congratulate you on the success which you have achieved in regard to Khasi States and would like to say that we felt that the happy result was due to the skill and ability and tact with which you conducted the negotiations.

As regards Nichols-Roy and Abdul Matin Choudhury, I am looking into the matter.

Regarding your letter of 5 December, I am glad that the preliminary arrangements in Tripura have gone off so well and that you won a signal success again in Manipur. S.N. Ray created some difficulties about remuneration and I had therefore to ask the Bengal Government to recommend another officer. They recommended Mr. A.B. Chatterjee, but I hope he has joined by now. I should like to know what your appreciation of the latest situation in Tripura is. His Highness the Maharaja of Panna mentioned to me, and I also agree that it would be a good thing if we could make use of Maharajkumar Dev Burman, the grand uncle of the present Maharaja, who is at present Vice-President of the Council of Regency. I hope you will bear this in mind.

Yours sincerely,

"Investigation started by Sylvain Levi and Jean Przyluski in Paris show that old Indo-Aryan found in Rigveda and Atharvaveda contains words borrowed from the Austro-Asiatic sub-stratum. Some of our cultural words, particularly in certain skills and crafts, such as brick-making, rice-culture, etc or names of things like betel, cotton, cotton-cloth, bamboo-arrows, etc. or geographical names like Kosala, Tosala, Kalinga, Trilinga, etc; or the Vigesimal system of counting with Kori (twenty) as a unit, appear to have their origin in this group. These scattered papers in inaccessible French journals were collected and translated by Prof. Bagchi. and published by the Calcutta University under the title of PRE-ARYAN AND PRE-DRAVIDIAN IN INDIA. The latest exponent of this school is Kuiper of Leiden University who has studied a number of important cultural words from Vedic texts and traced their affinities to what he terms Proto-Munda”.
